

REPROGRAPHIC REGULATIONS

A full version of the Archive's Reprographic Policy is available on request

All currently available reprographic methods expose archive material to risk of permanent damage. Some methods, such as photocopying, expose the item to physical stress because of the manner in which the item must be positioned in order to take a copy. The majority of methods expose the items to excessive UV levels and in many cases to bursts of heat thus damaging the physical and chemical structure of the media.

The decision to copy an item must take into account these risks, the physical format and condition of each item, the method of copying proposed and the frequency with which copies of specific items are requested.

In addition there may be copyright or restrictions imposed by the depositor which will affect the decision whether or not a copy will be made.

Photocopies and print outs of scanned images are generally available for collection the next working week, however, other types of reproduction or large orders may take longer.

GENERAL REGULATIONS

- No copies will be made or allowed to be made unless a copyright declaration form has been completed and signed by the reader, we will accept Faxed or E-mail signatures as long as the copy is in the persons own handwriting and not printed.
- No copies will be made where they would contravene current copyright legislation or the terms of deposit.
- Fees are charged for all copying.
- Copyright in any copies produced by the Jersey Archive, in most cases, belongs to Jersey Heritage.
- The use of personal or hand held copiers or scanners is strictly forbidden.
- No cameras of any sort may be used without permission
- Only Jersey Archive staff may use the photocopier.
- The decision of the Head of Archives concerning the making of any copies is final.

COPYRIGHT

- Jersey has no copyright law of its own but in 1913 adopted the UK Copyright Act of 1911. This law is still current today.
- Copyright law lays down the subsistence, ownership and duration of copyright and protects intellectual property.
- It should never be assumed that the copyright residing in a document in the care of the Jersey Archive is vested in Jersey Heritage or in the depositor.
- However, as a rule, single copies of documents are permitted for research or private study.
- Any breach of copyright in later use of the copies falls on the person for whom they were made.

COPYRIGHT DECLARATION FORM

Please supply me with one copy of the following:

REFERENCE NUMBER	BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF ITEM	PAGE NUMBER

I declare that:

- (i) I require the copy for purposes of research or private study only and will not use it for any other purpose;
- (ii) I have not previously been supplied with a copy of the same material;
- (iii) I will not supply a copy of it to any other person;
- (iv) To the best of my knowledge the work had not been published before the records were deposited with the Jersey Archive nor has the copyright owner prohibited copying.

I understand that if this declaration is false in any material particular the copy supplied to me by you will be an infringing copy and that I shall be liable for infringement of the copyright as if I had made the copy myself.

Please note that any photocopying not collected within 6 months will be destroyed.
